Those Railroad Bonds Again.

"The reputation of the Pulaski bonds, by the municipal authorities, was what killed the railroad." This was the position of the Lawrenceburg Free Press, but it seems to have abandoned the defense of its original position to take technical advantage of a simple inadvertence on our part, to wit, that "Pulaski never issued a bond to repudiate." The writer of the Free Press article, as well as the editor himself, knew that this was a simple oversight on our part. We detected it too before it went to the printer, and requested an attaché of the office to make the correction, which he failed to do through a misunderstanding. However, that is a mere quibble on the part of the Free Press. The writer of the Free Press article knows that Pulaski was enjoined by the courts from the issuance of her bonds, and that in fact her bonds have not been issued. The three little bonds upon which the Press harps were issued before this injunction was served, and its editor knows that the legal effect of its issuance has never been decided. And yet it does the authorities the injustice to reiterate that they have repudiated their bonds, because, forsooth they prefer to await the decision of the Courts. If we were disposed to quibble over technicalities we might still assert, as some do, that Pulaski has not issued a bond, because she had no authority to issue a bond. Or in other words that the bonds, so called, are not bonds because they were illegally issued, and if not bonds, how can they be repudiated? But this question is now before the courts for adjudication.

The Free Press traces these bonds up and down and makes a splutter over them to divert attention from its untenable position above quoted, to wit: "The reputation of the Pulaski bonds by the municipal authorities, was what killed the railroad." We have repeatedly corrected this misrepresentation, and yet the Free Press persists in repeating it. The Free Press knows that Pulaski voted $40,000 to the Railroad by a vote of about 9 to 1—that the municipal authorities peremptorily instructed the Mayor to subscribe the same on the books of the company, that the people and the municipal authorities acted in good faith, and were earnestly in favor of the road, but that some individuals who believed it was illegal, not the people of Pulaski, nor the municipal authorities, obtained an injunction forbidding the Mayor to subscribe or issue the bonds, and that the question is now pending before the Supreme Court. Is this reputation on the part of the municipal authorities? If so we acknowledge that no "misrepresentation" or "slandering fabrications" have been made against Pulaski. The Free Press knows that the Courts took this matter out of the hands of the municipal authorities, and that they had no more power to issue the bonds than the authorities of Lawrenceburg had. But, says the Free Press, they did issue these $500 bonds which have not been paid. So they did issue these bonds before this injunction was served. But did that defeat the railroad? Was it for the want of $1,500 that the road was not built? These are the only bonds, if they are bonds, that could have been repudiated, and yet, the Free Press says "the reputation of the Pulaski bonds by the municipal authorities, was what killed the railroad." Oh, inconsistency! thy name is—Free Press!

But enough. A word more only of explanation. We do not believe the Free Press editor would deliberately "misrepresent" or "fabricate standers" against Pulaski; He holds him personally in high esteem. But he gives circulation to charges which we again repeat are false. We believe he has done so through a misapprehension of the facts. Lawrenceburg instead of abusing Pulaski should be her best friend, for Pulaski stood up to her in favor of her enterprise. It was not the municipal authorities nor the people that defeated it. It was the law.

It is unfortunate for our friends Gilmore, Upshaw and others that they are temporarily deprived of the use of their money invested, but their bonds have not been repudiated. If they were legally issued they would be paid. Hold on to them. They are printed on good paper and will last well. But don't abuse Pulaski, Mr. Free Press. She has done nothing to be abused for, unless it be to vote for your road overwhelmingly, and in good faith; but may be blindly and without the warrant of law, all you asked her to vote $40,000. Curse her for that, if you please, but never for repudiation, for that she has not done nor never will do.

Messrs. F. Smithson, Jno. C. Lester, Guy Sumpter and Frank Lander went to Columbia to attend the Cooking Club Hop at the Nelson House last Thursday evening. They were met at the depot by gentlemen and escorted to the hotel and feasted in a manner peculiar to Mr. B. Whitworth & Co.—nobody else knows how like them. The Hop was largely attended and a splendid dinner was served. Our visitors returned perfectly delighted. Columbia always sends her guests away rejoicing.

Jan-24-3c. Cheap Cash Store.

Prof. J. W. Rusk and his wife Lola Montez Rusk are giving recitations, impersonations and miscellaneous readings at Columbia.

The Professor is also teaching a class in elocution. He was in Pulaski yesterday and told us that the professionals had tried to run him past Pulaski, but he thought he would probably try it for himself.

The Herald and Mail gives him a very flattering notice. He will probably return to Pulaski in a week or two.

NOTICE.

All persons indebted to J. H. Cannon & Co. are requested to come forward and settle their accounts immediately, as further indulgence cannot be given;—First, last and only call. Jan-24

Messrs. Ballentine, Haley & Neill have moved their Tobacco Stock to the large store house of Gov. Brown, West Side, next to the Giles National Bank and the St. Giles Hotel. They are preparing to commence manufacturing—having already received their presses and other fixtures. This will give employment to several hands and establish a new enterprise in Pulaski, which we wish great success. They are all clever gentlemen.

We are under renewed obligations to our ever active friends C. F. Butler, Aspen Hill, Drayton Reagin, Bethel, A. W. Moore, Esq., Elkton, R. N. Campbell and Robert Reed Campbellville, and D. R. Shores Bodenham, Rev. J. M. Shelton Appleton's, Thos. A. Maultsby and Sam Harwell Good Spring, for large accessions to our subscription lists. Thanks, noble friends. May you always find pleasure in good deeds, and finally reap a crown.

We have found the "Cash System" pays, and we are still marking down goods and clearing out for a Spring Stock.

Jan-24-3c. BALLENTINE & IRVINE.

The Eastern terminus of the Texas and Pacific railroad will be Memphis or Vicksburg—most likely Memphis. This has been the cause of some disagreement among the friends of the bill, but a compromise has been effected which unites all the friends. A committee has been appointed to select the terminus, not to be north of Memphis or south of Vicksburg, and all have agreed to unite on the place selected.

Mr. J. Haffner, who has been connected with the CITIZEN office during the past three years, has been obliged, by his health, to seek active employment. He is now associated in business with Mr. J. C. Myers. He will be very much missed from our office and from our household. The young ladies will all want Wheeler & Wilson's now, and all the pretentious—"Oh! no, no, it's not for Jo."

Time nor tide waits for fools, and to judge one's self by the yardstick of others, we are compelled to collect what is due on accounts and notes. If not paid by 15th day of February, 1878, we will be compelled to give into the hands of an officer. We expect to keep a good line of Hardware to sell, but must reduce our business to cash from this on. Jan-24-4c. FLAUNT, MARTIN & CO.

MARRIED—On Thursday, Jan'y 31st, at Franklin, Tenn. Mr. James Russell and Miss Mamie Coily.

Miss Cody taught a session in the Art department at Martin College, where she was much beloved. We congratulate Mr. Russell upon being the fortunate one to win the heart of this elegant lady, and extend to the happy pair our best wishes for a long life of unalloyed felicity.

CASH ONLY.

We are now offering a very large stock of Boots, Shoes, Hats, & Socks, Findings and all articles usually kept in a first-class Shoe Store, at exceedingly low prices, strictly for Cash. We invite our friends and the public to call on us when wanting anything in our line. J. H. CANNON & CO. Jan-24

The Oyster Supper given by the ladies of the Presbyterian Church last Friday night was quite a success, and they were well patronized Saturday and also Saturday night, the net proceeds amounting to about $45. The oysters were elegant and were served in every style.

The ladies have our thanks for some of the finest we ever saw, which were prepared in various ways.

BAKER'S COP LAYER OIL, LIME AND WILCOX'S is admitted by physicians to be the finest preparation of the kind in the market—palatable and efficacious. Jno. C. BAKER & Co., Pulaski, Mo. Sold by all druggists. Jan-24

One of the most enjoyable neighborhood societies of the season was at the residence of Mrs. Sarah L. Fogg, at the mouth of Chicken creek on Tuesday evening, Jan. 29. Some of the town beaux vied with those of the country, and all enjoyed the elegant hospitality of the hostess, as well as the bewitching smiles and gay repartee of the many beauties present.

We call attention to the announcement of Capt. W. C. Flournoy for the office of County Court Clerk.

Senator Voorhes's Great Speech.

Believing that every citizen should read the great masterly speech of Senator Voorhes, we have made arrangements to give it in full next week in supplemental form. The full text of the speech has not yet been published by any Southern papers.

Rev. Mr. West was billed for a lecture last night at Antoinette Hall, Subject "Heroes." We congratulate the literary people of Pulaski upon the feast they have enjoyed through this learned and versatile lecturer and divine. We were so unfortunate as to be too busy at the lecture hour last night to hear him.

Don't forget to call at the New York Store before purchasing, as you are always sure to save money.

Our heart goes out in sympathy to our dear little friend, Miss Felicia Miller, at Martin College, who has just received news from her far away home in Texas of the death of her father. If our tears could give her consolation we give them freely. May the great father take care of, guide and console her.

Prof. Warren met with an accident last Saturday which came near being serious. He had climbed up to arrange something about a window in his room, when he lost his footing and fell, injuring somewhat his spinal column. He was confined to his bed several days, but is now recovering.

A new Post Office will be established soon at Fall River, Lawrence County. Mr. James Martin, P. M. This is the place where Mr. Thomas J. Choate's wool factory is located. It will be a great convenience to a very large area of adjacent country which has hitherto had no mail facilities.
